CHOLERA INFANTUM.

in Hot Weather.

Cleveland Leader.

With the arrival of the extreme warm weather cholera infantum has again made its appearance. Four deaths from this yesterday, and it is probable that the number will be increased from day to day until the last of August. No malady universally fatal in its results. During the heated term the little ones are never safe, and mothers can not exercise too much care regarding their children's food, clothing and bodily condition. " Cholera to a Leader reporter, "is as much like Asiatic cholera as it is possible to imagine. It is caused principally by extreme heat. When the temperature at night ranges nights are cool there is not so much danwarm a child will not be so much affected by the heat as while sleeping, and for this reason the warm nights cause most of the trouble. Extreme heat in the child's body will arrest the process of digestion, diarrhea ensues, and if this is are earnestly requested to be present at not checked it will eventually run into their regular meeting night, Tuesday, cholera infantum.
